Welcome to the Best of the Lake!

If there is one thing that I have found to be true about the hard-working people throughout the Lake Okeechobee region is the pride that they take in their work! Lake Okeechobee News is pleased to salute that dedication through our Best of the Lake Award Series.

It started out simple enough. We put a submission portal online on our regional news site SouthCentralFloridaLife.com and ran newspaper ads in Lake Okeechobee News and Caloosa Belle beginning in December 2021 asking our readers and social media followers to tell us about their favorite businesses.

That effort resulted in over 1,100 different businesses and individuals being nominated. Top nominees then appeared on the final ballot that was open February 14 through March 31, 2022 and received over 51,000 interactions! Talk about passionate people! We were forced to adjust our timeline not once but twice due to the overwhelming response from the community!

We heard about customers sharing the ballot in social media encouraging others to vote for their favorite small business. We heard about employees of local businesses running secret internal campaigns to get their receptionist or boss recognized. But our favorite part of the entire promotion was simply the opportunity to connect with as many of this year's nominees as we possibly could, yet we know we were unable to connect with all 660+ and look forward to doing so as we deliver the awards directly to area businesses in the coming weeks.

Each winner and runner-up will receive a plaque or certificate and have the opportunity to utilize the Best of the Lake logo. To arrange for delivery or pick-up of your awards, please contact me at jlimoges@iniusa.org or call (863) 824-5934.

To you, our readers, we thank you for your enthusiastic support of the businesses in and around the communities of Okeechobee, Moore Haven, LaBelle, Clewiston, Belle Glade, South Bay, Pahokee and Indiantown. We encourage you to patronize the small businesses who do more than sell their products or services... they donate to fundraisers, coach little league teams, plan community events and pay taxes that support infrastructure.

Our businesses are the backbone of our communities... and we salute you!

Lake Okeechobee News presents...

Best of the Lake

Kathleen Papasso Memorial "Artistic Journey" Award

Kathie and her husband, Joe.

Kathleen Mary Papasso owned and operated Big Lake Hobbies, Fine Art by Papasso, and Park Street Gallery in Okeechobee. She and her husband Joe relocated to Okeechobee in 2004 and she worked as a nurse, retiring in 2014.

Throughout her time in Okeechobee, she worked to promote fellow artists and was involved in many area civic and non-profit organizations including the Okeechobee Kiwanis, Trail of Hope and served as Director at Large for the Arts for the Okeechobee Art Alliance. Kathie passed away in November 2021.

Kathie was a self-taught artist who was passionate about sharing her knowledge and techniques with others who wanted to learn. Her work was on display throughout the region including Park Street Gallery, The Brown Cow and the Okeechobee Art & Cultural Alliance in Okeechobee, the Backus Gallery in Ft. Pierce, and the Dolly Hand Performing Arts Center in Palm Beach County.

A Kids for Art Fund has been set up in her memory and proceeds from sales of her art will go into a Kids Art Program. At the Top of the Lake Art Fest, this fund gives all students who participated in the event art supplies to help them continue their growth in the Arts. "Papasso Art for Kids" will support art programs for kids through the Arts & Culture Alliance.

We humbly honor Kathie Papasso's memory with the founding of the Kathleen Papasso Memorial "Artistic Journey Award" to be given out annually as part of our Best of the Lake series to honor individuals, businesses and organizations who enrich the community through artistic means.

the establishment of the “Red” Larson Award for Outstanding Contribution to the Dairy Industry in recognition of environmental sustainability dedication and accomplishments

Red with his sons Woody and John

The University of Florida called him a pioneer of the Florida dairy industry and a statewide and national leader.

Florida Dairy Farmers called him a true leader, gentleman, and “the dean of dairymen.”

The Florida Cattlemen’s Association Vice President called attention to his hard work, entrepreneurial spirit, business ability and willingness to embrace modern science and cutting-edge management practices.

He served on USDA Advisory committees under multiple administrations and the Florida Agricultural Hall of Fame credits him in developing milk marketing methods that benefitted both the dairy industry and the consumer.

Louis E. Larson received much recognition on a national and state-wide level, but around here, many just called him Red.

While still in school, Mr. Larson invested savings from his newspaper route to purchase one $60 cow. Three years later, before he had even graduated from high school, he owned six cows, rented eight more and had 21 calves.

The military put his dairy plans on hold. Faced with near certainty of being drafted and his interest in the Air Corps, he began the testing and training to become a soldier first, and a pilot second. His training ground was often the Gulf of Mexico. He was ready to go to Africa and then England after the atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima.

Given the choice to stay in or go home, Red was soon back in Florida. He used the GI Bill to go to college. In 1947, Red married his wife Reda, whom he referred to as his first and best business partner. They had four children: Woody, Barbara, Kathy and John.

He would cultivate dairy operations in Dade and Palm Beach County before selling out and moving to Okeechobee County in 1972.

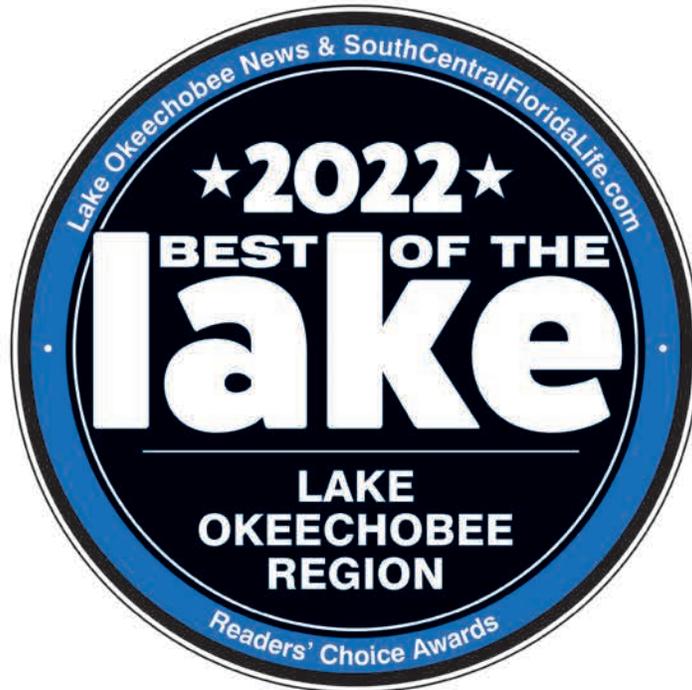

Building a successful dairy operation in the heartland of Florida is just the start of the contributions he made to the industry. An advocate of cooperative marketing, he believed the dairy farmers as well as the consumers benefitted from a steady supply of milk and milk products. Anyone who has ever said “Got Milk?” knows the power of cooperative marketing practices.

The innovation wheels didn’t stop with marketing slogans and executive committees. Red Larson was the patriarch of a dairy family carrying the tradition forward until his death at age 96 in 2020. He lived to see the family’s dairies enter into a project with Brightmark to convert 230,000 tons of manure from 9,900 cows into renewable natural gas that will enter into the local interstate gas pipeline system. Many of our own area businesses rely on natural gas for cooking, steam production, water heating, power generation and more. This will allow Larson Dairy to do their part to preserve Florida’s air quality, address climate change and GHG emissions, important work that continues a tradition of honoring Red’s advice to “do the right thing.”

Woody, John, Travis and Jacob Larson are no strangers to a commitment to environmental stewardship executing best practices to reduce nutrient runoff and recycle just as Red taught them to do for decades. And while being a good environmental steward can be costly to many types of industries, the Larson family’s partnership with Brightmark also offers business sustainability.

In a recent interview with the Dairy Business News Team, Jacob Larson said, “We’re excited about the partnership and we’re excited about the next generation being able to continue to farm.”

At Lake Okeechobee News, we think this is exciting too and an investment in the Okeechobee region and our communities. We honor the memory of Red Larson with the establishment of the Red Larson Award for Outstanding Contribution to the Dairy Industry in recognition of environmental sustainability dedication and accomplishments and are proud to present the inaugural award to Larson Family Dairy. We invite Larson Dairy and you, our readers in honoring area dairy farmers as part of our Best of the Lake Awards each year by nominating deserving individuals, companies or organizations to receive the Red Larson Award.

LEIGH WOODHAM

Hendry County

Occupation: Director, Clewiston Museum
Family: Husband Brent, Sons Jeffrey, David and his husband Jeffrey, and Luke (deceased)
Community Involvement: Member of the following organizations: Clewiston Rotary, Black Gold Jubilee Committee, Xi Iota Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi International Sorority, Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, Clewiston Chamber of Commerce, Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, Clewiston Museum, and Florida Association of Museums. Board member, Everglades Preparatory Academy
Dedication to Community: To give of myself as much as I am able in order to make Clewiston and the Glades a better place.

RAYE DEUSINGER

Okeechobee County

Occupation: Retired
Family: Husband Frank (deceased), two daughters, Diana Damiano and Ann Rodgerson, six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.
Community Involvement: Chairman of the Okeechobee Blood Roundup, Director of the Okeechobee Business Women's Referral Network, Okeechobee Chamber of Commerce Ambassador and volunteer; an usher and Teacher of Adult Sunday School at First United Methodist Church, occasional contributor to Lake Okeechobee News, former worker with Habitat for Humanity and former writer for Okeechobee the Magazine.
Dedication to Community: Raye, an 18-gallon blood donor, is most passionate about the Okeechobee Blood Roundup because it is something that is going to touch every person's life in some way. But her dedication doesn't end there. "If somebody needs help, I'm one of those who tries to help and/or encourage," she says.
